

ALL ABOUT COOKIE

by Mary Anne Saul

Cookie was a wonderful pet. When I remember him it makes me sad. He was black with a white tummy. Two white lines came up on the sides of his back from his tummy, but they didn't meet. He was really nice. He had a white diamond on his forehead. Sometimes I felt like calling him Diamond. He never bit anyone except me once or twice when I squeezed him hard. I loved him and I was sad when he died. When I held him he always pushed up his nose for me, looking for a place to stick his head out. I hope he's having a wonderful time in Heaven.
